Not Delivered

Mom if you feel like I disrespected you that night I apologize but what words did I call you? And can you tell me everything you feel like you need to tell me because I remember you getting mad bc I was telling you about how this government neglect us and my views on religion and life as a whole

Sorry, I can't talk right now.

Mom why did we get in a debate that day? How did the conversation start?

I feel like you feel I hate you and that's not the case at all mom I care about you more than anything and I know what you dealing with might not seem fair and its not at all but I don't want you thinking I have resentment towards you like you do everything you can for me I love you

I don't feel this way. Lets leave this in the past.

Okay I understand but I feel like you holding back from telling me something you can be honest with me mom I'm here for you
